

To whom it may concern

I am writing to you in reference to the comedian/juggler Sam Malcolm. Sam was one of many comedians who submitted to be part of our "Big Gig" concert at Fiddler's Green Ampitheatre in the summer of 2018, and he was one of four to be selected to take part. This not only was a big opportunity but also something of a challenge. Both his comedy and his juggling had to be adapted somewhat to accommodate the large outdoor venue...and, to top things off, it ended up raining all day, as well.

Sam, however, was up to the challenge. He made a few last-minute alterations at the behest of the venue, and then went out and performed excellently. His set was both engaging and exceptionally funny, which was especially impressive considering the crowd was primarily there for the bands. He was fantastic to work with, and I would readily recommend him to anybody looking for a wonderful and engaging performer.
